The power of Yet! Adding "yet" to the end of a sentence implies one cannot do something right now but in the future maybe they can. Using "yet" also helps your brain grow! A growth mindset is believing our brain can grow and learn new things. A fixed mindset believes the opposite.

Conditionals are lines of code that decide and are often phrased as If/Then statements. IF it is raining outside, then bring an umbrella. In the Scratch Game, IF the player taps on the character, THEN they win! IF we try again, ask for help if needed, THEN we can learn new things and complete difficult tasks.
